5. Justification and Clarification of the Request

MSE 248/L (Engineering CAD and Graphics and Lab) mainly includes the development of concepts and skills in engineering graphics and computer-aided design. Consequently it is a core course to prepare MSEM students for upper level courses. MSE 410/L introduces the design and analysis of production systems. MSE 248 provides the basic knowledge and required tools for modeling and simulating the alternative production systems in conjunction with the system-design process. Therefore it is essential to add MSE 248/L or equivalent as a prerequisite for MSE 410/L.

Existing Course Description

MSE 410/L. Production Systems Modeling and Lab (2/1)

Prerequisite: Instructor consent. Design and analysis of production systems. Fixed, flexible, and programmable automation. Modeling and simulation of alternative production systems in conjunction with the systems-design process. 2 hours lecture-discussion, 3 hours lab per week. Available for graduate credit.

Proposed Course Description

Prerequisite: MSE 248/L. Design and analysis of production systems. Fixed, flexible, and programmable automation. Modeling and simulation of alternative production systems in conjunction with the systems-design process. 2 hours lecture-discussion, 3 hours lab per week. Available for graduate credit.

6. Estimated Impact on Resources within the Department, for other Departments and the University.

Only the prerequisite will be changed, which may affect the timing of when MSE 248/L is taken. Therefore there will be no impact on resources with the department, for other departments and the university.

7. Impact on other Departments' programs

The addition of the MSE 248/L prerequisite will only affect the undergraduate students within the MSEM department. Therefore there will be no impact on other departments' programs.
