December: This was the month of final exams and Winter Break. This month we made tutoring available for our students every day from December 3rd through the final exams on December 17th. Tutoring sessions were interspersed throughout the day in the mornings, early and late afternoons.   Students were also awarded their stipends this month. We are also recruiting new students to the cohort as some of them are moving on and transferring. The designated AIMS2 counselor also announced to the students that he had open office hours for anyone who wished to drop in and get advice on classes or internships.

Professional Development - The following workshops were held in December:

A. 1. Transfer to Excellence Internship information session – Students will learn about this internship opportunity at UC Berkeley. They will be able to ask questions on for the application and what is needed to get accepted. (13 students signed up)

B. Academic Excellence Workshops (AEW) have started and we are offering 6 AEW's and 3 Study Groups. AEW's are workshops that are facilitated and students are given extra practice problems each week pertaining to the topic of the week in their class. The facilitator works with the students' one on one to make sure they know how to do the problems and become proficient in the material .Study groups are the same without extra practice problems.

C. We will continue with the above support services through December 7th. We also will be completing our professional development workshops for the semester on December 5th. We will have a small schedule for the first week of December and then restart on January 2nd
